FROM OUR SENIOR PASTOR...

God's Prescription for Anxiety

Arthur Somers Roche once wrote, "Worry and fear are sort of Siamese twins. Anxiety is a thin stream of fear, trickling through the mind. If encouraged, it cuts a channel into which all other thoughts are drained." Anxiety may be the body's response to fear and worry but anxiety is also a battle that happens within the mind.

Did you know that God has a prescription for our anxiety? Specifically, the anxiety produced by the stress of everyday life.

What is God's prescription for my anxiety? It is found in Philippians 4:6-7. Paul writes, "do not be anxious about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. 7 And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus."

There are two dispositions in opposition that Paul mentions here: anxiety and peace. Paul says, "do not be anxious about anything." "Anything" in the Greek means "anything." You don't have to allow that relationship to create anxiety in you. You don't have to allow that difficult decision cause you to be anxious and make you irritable. Don't be anxious about anything. Now look at the peace that is available for us. How can we have peace that guards our minds and hearts in Christ Jesus? If anxiety and peace are the bookends of Paul's thought here, what is in the middle? Prayer! Prayer is God's prescription to our anxiety. Pray over everything that threatens your peace. Lift others up even when you feel anxious yourself (supplication). And do it all with thankfulness in your hearts. When we come to God with anxious and heavy hearts, we can leave with the peace of God that surpasses all human understanding if we will come to Him in prayer.

We have a peace that the world longs for and it's found in Christ as we come to God in prayer. Prayer is God's prescription to our and the world's anxiety. Do you know someone that struggles with anxiety? Share this message with them today so they can know the peace of Christ too!
