FROM OUR CHILDREN'S DIRECTOR....

Crazy, Busy, Peaceful, Holy Night

I cannot get over how amazing the kids did at their Dinner Theatre this past Sunday Night. Every single child worked so hard to memorize their songs, their lines, when and where they are supposed to move, and I could not be prouder of them. For those of you that attended our Dinner Theatre, or volunteered time to help us prepare for that night— Thank you so much! It is because of you that our kids can go and spend a week at Centrikid Camps this summer and learn so much about Jesus. I sincerely hope that the kids reminded you that we need to focus on who Christmas is all about, and not get caught up in the crazy, busy Christmas Season.

Personally, this Christmas Season has been crazier and busier than any Christmas ever. Brandon and I are currently in the process of packing up our belongings in our rental house and moving into our first home on Highway 19N. We will move into our new home seven days before Christmas. I know. We're crazy. Also in the midst of moving, I am still planning Kid's Ministry events, and doing all the normal Christmas Festivities. Needless to say, I feel like I have hardly had time to sit still. However, Sunday Night reminded me that I need to sit still.

The Christmas Season is always a good excuse to have fun get-togethers with your friends and family, and have the calendar filled with fun events, but it's an even better excuse to focus on Jesus. So, make time and invite your whole family over to make Christmas goodies while reflecting on that night in Bethlehem. Or dress everyone in matching pajamas (but don't forget your fur-babies) and read Luke 2 on Christmas Eve before everyone goes to bed. Or make a craft with your kids and grandkids that tells the story of Jesus' birth.

Whatever you do this Christmas Season— sit still and spend time focusing on Jesus.
